Team Rushden - United we stand, divided we fall

Dear Parent / Carer

This week started with a bank holiday which allowed us all to observe Her Majesty, The Queen's funeral. It was nice to hear that so many of our students spent time on Monday watching various parts of the funeral arrangements and observing this important part of British culture and history.

Despite it only being a 4-day week, it has been a very busy one with lots going on in the academy. Mr Noblett led the assembly this week but was ably supported by Grace and Mackenzie from the student leadership team in sharing the plans for our bake-off to raise money for Macmillan Cancer Support. The team have set some ambitious fundraising targets linked to various rewards including an opportunity to pour water over a selection of teachers and a potential mufti day. Our students were encouraged to reflect on the important work that Macmillan and other cancer related charities undertake to support people undergoing treatment and their families.

Mr Middleton and Miss Buckoke have spent the last few weeks busily preparing for our annual awards' evening which took place on Thursday evening; their hard work led to a fantastic event celebrating the achievements of the students of Team Rushden. It was a real privilege for me as Principal to see a hall packed full of parents and carers all gathered to collectively celebrate students hard work and dedication to their education here at Rushden Academy. The awards were far-ranging and recognised academic efforts, outstanding and exemplary conduct, as well as wider contributions to the school community. The prestigious overall achievement award for Key Stage 3 went to Gracey for the highest attainment across all subjects. For Key Stage 4, it went to Lucy who achieved a staggering 7 grade 9s in her GCSE examinations. It was also a pleasure to give the Principal's Award for outstanding progress to Jakub which recognised his incredible effort in achieving 3 grades higher than his targets (on average) across all of his GCSE examinations. Beyond the academic awards, the whole-school award for personal and pastoral success went to Neil for demonstrating exemplary character through his self-discipline, determination and desire to succeed. It was a fantastic evening from start to finish and thank you to everyone that was able to come and join us for the celebration.

Finally, the return to school has brought with it the inevitable autumn cold and flu illnesses but please can I ask that you support us in promoting positive attendance by only keeping your son or daughter at home if they absolutely need to be as in most cases a common cold shouldn't stop them from attending school. Thank you in advance for your support with this.

Yours sincerely,

Mr B Baines

European Day of Languages

26th September 2022 marks the 21st anniversary of the European Day of Languages. Since 2001, the Day has been celebrating the rich tapestry of languages coexisting in Europe and beyond. According to Council of Europe Secretary General Marija Pejčinović Burić:

“The European Day of Languages reminds us that all voices matter and that together we can overcome linguistic and cultural divides in our societies”.

The European Day of Languages (EDoL) was first celebrated in 2001 during the European Year of Languages. At the end of this campaign the Council of Europe's Committee of Ministers decided to make EDoL an annual event, to be celebrated each 26 September. Every year, millions of people in the Council's member states and elsewhere organise or take part in activities to promote linguistic diversity and the ability to speak other languages.

The general aim is to draw attention to Europe's rich linguistic and cultural diversity, which has to be encouraged and maintained, but also to extend the range of languages that people learn throughout their lives in order to develop their plurilingual skills and reinforce intercultural understanding. EDL is an opportunity to celebrate all of Europe's languages, including those that are less widely spoken and the languages of migrants.

Here at Rushden Academy, we are marking the celebration with an Interform Competition Quiz, based on all things European and Language-related. Forms across the school have the opportunity to compete during morning registration for their chance to win the COVETED EUROPEAN DAY OF LANGUAGES TROPHY, which will reside in the form room of the winning form for the duration of the year until the next European Day of Languages! We are also celebrating the diversity of European Languages and raising awareness by using a selection of “borrowed” words for this weeks' Word of the Week, to help students see the link between our own language and those of our European neighbours, with achievement points available for students who successfully use the words in their lessons.

Did you know, for example, that rucksack, broccoli and graffiti are all words that English has “borrowed” from our friends on the continent over the years?

Have a look at the next page to see what words could get you extra APs next week when you use them in a sentence!

Keep an eye on future editions of the Rushden Academy newsletter to find out which of the competing form groups managed to secure the Rushden Academy European Day of Languages Trophy!!

MFL Words of the Week

Here's a new challenge for you - use one of the following words (all of which have been "borrowed" from other European Languages) in a sentence in any lesson throughout the week for an extra AP.

Rules:

1. The word must be used in a sentence giving some meaning/definition to the word
2. You can't say the same sentence as someone else!
3. You must give the LANGUAGE OF ORIGIN as well

Example:

After school I will go to the Blue Corner Café for my dinner. The word café comes from French.

Word	Language of origin	Meaning
Café	French	In English, this is the name for a small, usually informal restaurant. It is written both with an accent in French and without it in English.
Entrepreneur	French	A person who sets up a business or businesses, taking financial risks in the hope of profit.
Rucksack	German	This is another name for backpack. In German, the two halves of the word come from the words Rücken (back) and Sack (bag/sack).
Delicatessen	German	This is an informal restaurant where you can get sandwiches, coffee and other small foods. In German, it means "fine/fancy foods," but in English it just describes the place where you can buy these foods.
Macho	Spanish	This describes a person who is very strong or masculine. It can also be used to describe a person who is arrogant about his
Guerrilla	Spanish	A member of a small independent group taking part in irregular fighting, typically against larger regular forces.
Broccoli	Italian	A cultivated variety of cabbage bearing head of green or purplish flower buds that are eaten as a vegetable
Graffiti	Italian	Writing or drawings scribbled, scratched, or spray painted illicitly on a wall or other surface in a public place

This Week in Humanities - Autumn Has Arrived!

Cosy jumper, hot chocolate with marshmallows and pumpkin-spiced latte season is officially upon us as today marks the start of the autumn equinox.

According to the Met Office, this is when the length of day and night becomes roughly the same and nights will become increasingly longer as the season progresses. For me this translates as we wake up in the dark and leave school in the dark too! However it is not all doom and gloom there are many things to look forward to in this season. If Strictly

Come Dancing reappearing on your screens is not enough, you can embrace the beautiful colours of the leaves on the ground and if you're a big kid at heart- is there anything better than stomping through and kicking up the crunching leaves? Get out and about and relive collecting conkers and have a family competition. Or does this season offer you the opportunity for a fresh start?

On the theme of Fresh starts this weekend also marks the Jewish celebration of new year - Rosh Hashanah. The celebration of the creation of the world which marks making a fresh start. The celebration is a time for people to reflect on their past year and ask for forgiveness for anything they feel they have done wrong. It is a time to think about new beginnings and priorities. An opportunity to think about what is important to each one of us. The festival is also marked by some sweet treats too! One of the most popular and well-known food customs has to do with dipping apple slices into honey. This sweet combination stems from an age-old Jewish tradition of eating sweet foods to express our hope for a sweet new year.

Whilst on the theme of Nature, the Ethics and Morality committee also took on the debate this week of Why is nature feminine? Why do we say Mother Nature or Mother Earth? Are there any ethical reasons why we should or should not continue to regard nature and the earth as a mother or as female? This was an intriguing session where students were only too keen to share their thoughts and opinions in a healthy debate. Considering whether or not the meaning stems from the motherly figure providing birth to new life in the way that nature does? Or is it just an accepted part of language we never fought to challenge - such as the male association with time - The grandfather clock, father time? There were even some connotations to how the media picks up on the nature theme too including some Disney films. The tree in Pocahontas and Te Feti in Moana! What a perfect way to get back to my first theme - Autumn is 100% a time for Disney films and hot chocolate!

If you would like to get involved and join in with the ethics committee you can join us weekly on Thursday lunch times in H5.

6th Form News

ALICIA'S BLOG.... week 2

Alicia finished her Level 3 studies this summer, achieving A*, A*, A and has qualified to start her children's nursing degree in Liverpool. However, she has decided to defer her place until next year and has just embarked on her travels to Nepal where she will be volunteering on a health care program.

Over the next few weeks we will be sharing her travels with you. We are so proud of her and her achievements and hope this blog will inspire future 6th form students in their journeys around the world.

I think to sum up the last week I've been working at the schools Monday to Friday teaching about different diseases like malaria, hypertension etc. However last Friday the school had a sports day so we went and helped out running different activities for the children! My activity was an egg and spoon race!

Over the weekend we also went out and completed a trek to the tops of one of Nepal's many mountains which took most the day. Then on the Sunday we went paragliding which was amazing and then later in the day went to the Shiva temple and world peace pagoda which was so surreal! This weekend we are heading to Pokhara old town and a waterfall then doing some rafting as well. I'm having such an amazing time so far and have already settled in! Looking forward to the rest of trip and all the other things that I am going to do before my time ends. Here are some photographs....

Duke of Edinburgh Award Update

Since we have been back this term, we have been busy planning expeditions with currently enrolled Bronze students as well as recruiting our new cohort of award participants.

Year 11 Students

Our Year 11 students have been meeting regularly to ensure they are ready for their upcoming expedition! We have completed our route planning using electronic mapping systems, carefully thinking about footpaths and bridleways that will take us to our campsite whilst avoiding some of the hazards of busy roads and waterways.

We have 3 groups planning expedition routes and all have chosen to explore slightly different routes from their starting point to the campsite. We have one group leaving and heading North before turning back South, one group leaving South before turning back North and one group taking the middle path out.

Our groups will all be remotely supervised and will meet staff at regular checkpoints to check in on their progress and how their spirits are, we look forward to lots of expedition stories as they complete their aims!

Year 9 and 10 Students

All students that have returned their enrolment form have been added to a google classroom ready for key information, messages and meetings to be communicated via. Students need to ensure they have accepted the invitation to join and are looking out for notifications.

A reminder for anyone that has given in an enrolment form - please make sure the enrolment fee has been paid on ParentPay as without this we cannot purchase the award space from DofE. Anyone still wishing to take part can return letters and payment still to Mrs Brooks.

We look forward to a year of updating you on how our amazing students are doing!

Performing Arts Update

Drama

Year 8 students have been beginning to look at Sparkleshark by Philip Ridley. We have been working on setting the scene and using non-verbal communication for the opening. Year 8s have really impressed this week and continue to develop their understanding of drama and applying their dramatic techniques to performance. Super well done!

Dance

Year 7 has started this term with so much positivity towards learning dance as a new subject. Currently they are grooving to the well known song 'Around the world'- by Daft Punk where they are currently developing their performance skills, exploring Space, Action, Dynamic and Relationship content. Students are very enthusiastic and have a lot of potential. Well done year 7 :)

Music

Year 9 students have been showing their creative song writing this week. They have been looking at writing lyrics and now are starting to use Bandlab software to create music for their lyrics to go with. Students explored parts of Bandlab last year but are now focusing on how to use the pre-recorded loops within the software to build a piece of music that shows musical elements of structure, texture and timing.

Performing Arts Career of the week: Drama, Music and Dance Therapists

Drama therapists use activities such as group work or role play to encourage people to come to terms with their emotions and express themselves, helping them to overcome or progress on their social or personal difficulties. Similarly, music therapists use music to help people deal with feelings they can't put into words. You'll use music creatively to establish a shared musical experience and aim for therapeutic goals. Dance movement therapists use movement and dance within a therapeutic atmosphere to help people who are facing physical, psychological, emotional or mental problems.

Estimated Annual Starting Salary: £39,000

For any students that are interested in taking up instrument lessons this term - please get in touch with Mrs Brooks! We currently offer string, piano, guitar, drum and singing lessons but if you are interested in other instrument please let us know and we will try and source the provision!

Performing Arts Update

Chicago High School Edition

Our first rehearsal for Chicago took place on Tuesday and the turnout really did blow the entire Performing Arts faculty away. We began with some getting to know you games and exercises and fun teamwork games. The warmup was especially fun and the newer members of the cast who haven't been in a production before can't wait to learn it.

We also had our auditions this week and the talent that we have at Team Rushden is absolutely incredible, it made it particularly hard to cast some roles. A huge congratulations to those who have been given their roles already and a very big good luck to those coming back for callbacks tonight, we have every faith in you that you will give a dazzling performance.
